An object that looks like an old time lamp sitting on the corner of a fancy desk.

Nothing else!
That's all I got

I sense a large (100s) crowd of people gathered in the place. They are very subdued - almost an expectant demeanor. The weather is cold, grey (overcast). They are looking off into the distance as though awaiting an approach of someone or something. It's a very odd feeling.

Turning back in time, it's dark (night) and there is a flashing red / blue light. I feel like I'm in a vehicle traveling at high speed, swerving around corners and to avoid other vehicles. AOL - ambulance.

I tried going forward but there is no sense of future activity, which I know is ridiculous.
